Why Sixth Form at Worksop College?

Results success

With over 83% of our A-level cohort achieving A*-C grades in 2022, our students consistently secure admission into their first-choice universities, as well as gaining opportunities for supported internships and degree apprenticeships.

Outstanding extra-curricular opportunities

In our sixth form, students have access to a diverse range of extra-curricular activities designed to foster personal growth and development. From the Paris 'Your Future in Europe' program to the 'World First' Greenland Expedition, we offer unique opportunities for students to broaden their horizons and explore new cultures and environments.

Inspirational visiting speaker programme

Our visiting speaker programme features globally-renowned speakers delivering subject-specific lectures, cultivating a culture of academic curiosity and a passion to explore beyond the specification, something highly valued by Higher Education and industry. Through subject partnerships with universities, our students gain a competitive edge when it comes to the crucial UCAS application process.

A history of sporting excellence

With some of the best sporting facilities in the country, our programme supports and develops elite athletes – leading to the delivery of world-class sportspeople - including England cricketer Joe Root and Hockey Olympians Adam Dixon, Sam Ward and Tom Sorsby.

Exciting enrichment programme

We offer students the opportunity to take an additional qualification, such as an EPQ or STEM CREST award, on a voluntary basis. We also have a range of academic societies, from MediPrep to Creative Writing, and an annual Sixth Form Lecture Competition.

Curriculum

With almost 30 subjects on offer, students design their own learning path based on their skills, talents, and aspirations.

Students are encouraged to select subjects relevant to interests, aptitude and their career ambitions. Most students study three subjects, with the option to take an Extended Project Qualification. This is largely self-directed, and, as well as the chance to be creative, an EPQ can give students the edge when it comes to that all-important UCAS or job application.

Students are taught in small, focused groups across classroom and lecture spaces, including our Sixth Form Centre, with seminar rooms, screens for cross-world interactive experiences and well-equipped café bar.

Supported by our strong team of experienced subject specialists, as well as by a personal Sixth Form tutor, students are encouraged to manage their time effectively, developing skills to take on to higher education and careers.

Although most of the subjects we offer are at A level, we have a small, but growing number of vocational qualifications. Currently offered across Food & Nutrition, Science, Business and Sport, we have plans to introduce a broader vocational curriculum as demand grows, from both students themselves, and the industries they will eventually join.

Beyond the Classroom

From music to sports, theatre performances to engaging in one of the many clubs and activities available, our extra-curricular program plays a vital role in enriching students' time at school - providing diverse opportunities to explore interests, develop new skills, and forge lasting friendships.

Our out-of-school expeditions are designed to teach self-reliance, beginning with activities such as overnight activities in neighbouring Sherwood Forest, building to five-day camps in the Lake District or Snowdonia, or even month-long expeditions to some of the most far-flung places in the world.

Our 2015 Operation 'World First' trip to Greenland attracted national press attention, with our pupils training for the year ahead of the ground-breaking survival expedition.
